

Approved For Release 2005/04/22 : CIA-RDP85B00803R000100030010-0

Representatives of the USSR and the U.S. conducted discussions in Geneva, Switzerland, on the question of cooperation between the two countries on peaceful uses of outer space.

This resulted from the exchange of views between Khrushchev and John F. Kennedy (21-22 February 1962). Dr. Hugh L. Dryden of NASA REPRESENTED the U.S. and A. A. Blagonravov the USSR.

Agreement in field of meteorology looking toward the establishment of a global weather satellite system for the benefit of, and with possible sharing of cost by, other nations.

✓ Summary of Understanding - USSR-US, on cooperation in peaceful uses of
Outer Space, 8 June 62, DD/R-251-62/A

Approved For Release 2005/04/22 : CIA-RDP85B00803R000100030010-0
NRO review(s) completed.